

About Plain Language Commission

As an independent business, we provide editing services to many companies, government departments and law firms. We also present tailored, in-house courses and seminars on writing skills.

We are best known for our accreditation mark, the Clear English Standard, which appears on more than 6,000 documents published by all kinds of organizations, especially those in the financial services sector. A version of the Clear English Standard is also available for websites.

We have to close the gap between Europe's institutions and its citizens. People want a Union they can understand.
